About Open Books: The Power of Donated Books

Each year, generous readers donate hundreds of thousands of books to support literacy.

Open Books sells books in their stores and online to help fund programs including helping families build home libraries during COVID 19. They use and give books away in their literacy and book grant programs. Their book department produces zero waste and gives away 2.5 books for every 3 sold.

Tax Deductible: Open Books www.open-books.org is a 501(c)3 nonprofit, so all donations are fully tax deductible. Looking for a receipt for your donation, click here.
